| 1. | A warrant was issued for Alhadi Armstrong by Irvington Police Department following a reported physical altercation. |
|----|---|

The victim stated she met Mr. Armstrong, her ex-boyfriend, at 40 Vine Avenue in Irvington, New Jersey to retrieve her cellphone charger. While receiving the charger, a verbal altercation ensued. During the altercation, Mr. Armstrong asked the victim to go home and the victim refused to leave. Mr. Armstrong reportedly, grabbed the victim's legs, dragged her down the stairs and fled on foot. The victim complained of pain to both legs and was transported to Rutgers University Hospital. The victim refused a temporary order of protection and to speak with a domestic violence advocate.

Mr. Armstrong turned surrendered himself on September 22, 2020.

U.S. Probation Officer Action:

Mr. Armstrong will be required to participate in the virtual U.S. Probation Office's STOP (Skills, Techniques, Options, and Plans for better relationships) Program and will meet once per week for 10 weeks beginning on Monday, October 19, 2020. Attendance and completion of the homework assignments are mandatory.

We respectfully request that no court action is taken at this time. We will update the Court if Mr. Armstrong does not successfully complete the program and with the outcome of the pending matter.
